Ocean Beach Unexcelled Ideal Residential Resort

REMARKABLE SALES BY OCEAN BEACH REALTY CO.

SHOW GREAT GROWTH

Activity in Ocean Beach property seems to be growing every day, according to information gathered from the different realty dealers of this city. Many transactions have been brought to consummation during the week, giving ample indication that the season has started and that home-seekers are not overlooking Ocean Beach in their quest for future homes and business locations.

On the occasion of a visit to the office of the Ocean Beach Realty Co., at the corner of Voltaire and Bacon streets, we were very agreeably surprised at the sales made through that office during the week, and also at the optimistic view of the future of this locality as seen and enthusiastically expressed by the proprietors of that office.

They report a fast growing tendency on the part of the visiting public to secure homes in this section, which is shown by the fact that a number of transactions through their office in the past two weeks, only two were made as speculative purchases. Those who have purchased business properties have done so on Voltaire and on Bacon, and the Ocean Beach Realty Co. sold a property on Voltaire the other day on which a handsome stucco building, consisting of three stores, is to be constructed in the very near future. The Ocean Beach Realty Co. is now occupying the middle store of the Mairot building at the corner of Bacon and Voltaire streets, but are going to build on the corner lot where their large signs now stand. We wish them great luck, and we feel that when such optimism and enterprise as they exhibit is consistently used in furthering the interest of the whole community, Ocean Beach will materially benefit by the influx of permanent residents who can visualize and also "tell the world" of the many virtues of this community.

PAVILION BARBER SHOP—Under personal direction of A. H. Maier. Skillful service, always.

GRANADA THEATRE, LA JOLLA

Today, Saturday, May 15, both matinee and night, Fred Thompson and his famous horse, Silver King, will appear in "All Around Frying Pan." This picture contains actual scenes taken at the Alturas Wild West and Rodeo, and is the first picture in which Silver King has taken the part of a wild, unruly buck. On the same program the Granada will show a Grantland Rice Sport light, a Sennett comedy, and a Pathe Review.

Sunday and Monday, May 16-17, brings Blasco Ibanez's "The Torrent" to the Granada screen. Aside from the fact that "The Torrent" is from the pen of that virile writer who gave us "The Four Horsemen" and "The Temptress," the acting of great Garbo, who makes her initial American screen appearance in this production, makes this a picture well worth seeing. Ricardo Cortez plays opposite Miss Garbo, and Monta Bell directed the picture. Short subjects on the program include a Kelly color, a comedy, and International News.

Hobart Henley's production of Rex Beach's famous novel, "The Auction Block," is the feature attraction for Tuesday and Wednesday, May 18-19. This production of "The Auction Block" presents Charles Ray in a new type of role. Sally O'Neil, who will be remembered for her work in "Sally, Irene and Mary," and Eleanor Boardman, are co-featured with Mr. Ray. The last of the "Mazie" series, "Mazie Gets Married," and a Fable will also be shown.

On Thursday and Friday Hauptmann's poetic play, "The Sunken Bell," directed by Mme. de Turezy nowicz and enacted by an all La Jolla cast, will be presented at the Granada, with all seats, except the balcony, being reserved. The play is being presented as a Parent-Teacher benefit, and if advance sales are any criterion, will be presented to two capacity houses.

SUNSET CLIFFS

Written for "The Beach News"
By Lola Kennedy, Ocean Beach School, Grade 6-A.

Have you ever visited Sunset Cliffs Upon any kind of day, When the air is full of salty whiffs, And the waves are all astray?

If you wish to see a pretty scene, Just go there for a while, Where the rocks are kept so neat and clean Upon the Seagull Isle.

It's the most wonderful sight yet; Tourists come from every state To see the glorious sunset, And say, "It's simply great!"

The splashing of the waves, As the water goes to and fro, Causes echoes from the caves, Heard distinctly from below.

It is there as nature made it, Not by human hand; It is where I've always loved to sit, Beneath them on the sand.

And if you ever go there, You'll smell those salty whiffs; There never was a place so dear As the scene at Sunset Cliffs.

O. B. BAIT HOUSE TWICE

LOOTED BY ROBBERS

For the second time within a month or so, the Ocean Beach Bait House at the southeast end of Mission Bay bridge was entered by robbers during the night early this week and a quantity of merchandise was stolen.

Owing to the lack of street lights in that section, the neighborhood is extremely dark at night and burglars work without fear of discovery. In a report to the police, Proprietor Jack Neumont states that the thieves took fishing tackle, lines, candy, field glasses and canned goods, amounting to the total value of $75.

A street light is badly needed at the O. B. end of the bridge and also at the foot of Bacon street.

"TIDES OF PASSION"

COMING TO THE GRANADA

Of special interest to beach folks is the announcement by the management of the Granada theatre, La Jolla, that on Sunday and Monday, June 6-7, there will be presented the picturization of Basil King's novel, "In the Garden of Charity." The picture, which reaches the screen under the title of "Tides of Passion," was filmed almost in its entirety around La Jolla, at the caves, near the W. C. Sexton home at Bird Rock and at Torrey Pines.

J. Stuart Blackton directed the picture, which is replete with romance, thrills, suspense, heart-throbs and scenic effects. Mae Marsh is featured, supported by Men Hendricks, Earl Schenck, Laska Winter and Ivor McFadden.

OWNERS OF BICYCLES

OFFERED SPECIAL FREE

SERVICE BY CARL SCHRODER

On the lot in the rear of his residence at 4840 West Point Loma boulevard, Ocean Beach, Carl Schroder has built and equipped a fine workshop, where he makes a specialty of assembling and fixing radio outfits, repairing bicycles and putting lawnmowers in proper shape.

Mr. Schroder is an expert electrician, gunsmith and locksmith, making and fitting keys to order at short notice. Owners of bicycles, particularly boys of the beach districts, can have their bicycle rims trued up free of charge this month, and Mr. Schroder also announces that he will rejuvenate the bicycle tubes free for a like period. His phone number is Bayview 0161-J.

GEODETIC SURVEY

OFFICIALLY SHOWS COAST REGION UNDISTURBED

It is announced that official advice show that the intensive geodetic survey of the Southern California coast has been finished opposite the international border line to a few miles north of San Pedro, and gradually is being extended to cover the entire Pacific coast.

Of the utmost interest is the statement of the coast and geodetic survey that soundings taken off San Diego reveal that little change has occurred in the ocean bottom for more than half a century, positive evidence that this vicinity is free of severe earthquake disturbances.

CUT POSTAL RATES

ON FIVE CLASSES OF

U. S. MAIL MATTER

Advices from Washington state that material changes in five classes of temporary postal rates approved last year have been agreed upon by the special joint congressional postal committee. They are:

Reduction in the rate on private mailing cards from 2 cents to 1 cent.

Reduction of the rate on transient second-class mail matter—newspapers mailed by individuals—to 1 cent.

Establishment of a rate of not more than 2 cents on return postal cards sent out by business firms with the collection to be made after their return.

Rearrangement of the special handling rate on parcel post packages so that in place of the standard 25-cent charge there will be a graduation, with a 15-cent rate for packages weighing not more than two pounds; 25 cents for packages weighing from two to ten pounds, and 35 cents for packages exceeding ten pounds.

APPOINTMENT OF

THIRD HEALTH NURSE

An ordinance adopted by the city council this week creates a position for a third public health nurse. The new nurse, when appointed, will be engaged in child welfare work, formerly undertaken and financed by the Federation of Parents and Teachers. The salary fixed is $150 per month, and will be paid out of the health department budget. The nurse also will get $90 a month for automobile expenses.

Cecil O. Carl Enlarges

HIS ELECTRICAL STORE

Securing the adjoining store at his electrical headquarters, 1874 Bacon street, Cecil O. Carl has had the partition removed, doubling the capacity of his place. He has arranged a splendid display of modern electric fixtures and can furnish anything in the electrical line with promptness and satisfaction.

WARNING WORDS ON STREET WORK

PROPOSED PAVING

OF LONG BRANCH AVENUE

SUBJECT TO PITFALLS

Ocean Beach, May 12, 1926.

Mr. Kirk Smith,
Editor "The Beach News."

Dear Sir: The residents of Long Branch avenue are planning to pave their street so as to be up-to-date with the rest of Ocean Beach, but they would better look over Muir avenue first. The surveys of these streets were made in 1909. That was before prohibition, as anyone will believe if he will examine the results.

On Muir avenue, at the foot of the hill, between Guizot and Froide streets, is quite a hollow that should have had a foot fill to ease the hill, but instead the graders have cut it down two feet deeper, making the hill that much steeper and spoiling the fronts of several residences. It also is claimed that the water will stand in this hollow when it rains. When the residents complained, they were told that it was according to the plans, and if they did not like it they should have protested before.

Now, how many people not used to running levels can tell by looking at the maps at the city hall what the figures mean? But I warn the residents of Long Branch to find out, before their street is spoiled by such fool grading. There are plenty of other examples of insanity in our city now.

Another thing for the residents of Long Branch to look after before they start street work is the great eucalyptus trees that obstruct the sidewalks. They cannot have these trees and sidewalks and curbs, too.

Until we started to improve Muir avenue, we all supposed that the streets and the trees in them belonged to the city, but Mr. Rhodes says the trees belong to whoever may chance to own the lots behind them. This decision has had very bad results on Muir street, which represents the progressive residents' plan to make the finest street in Ocean Beach, and they are not pleased at having it botched.

Now, the Long Branch residents, before they start in to improve their street, would better have this matter settled right; otherwise some back number who is opposed to improvements, or has no provision, may bob up and spoil the job (for a while). I own property on Long Branch and shall have something to say about it.

D. C. CROSBY.

TURNER B. KLINE

GETS INTO LINE WITH

NEW GASOLINE PUMP

Looking like the reproduction of a lighthouse, all in glaring red with a great glass lantern at the top, a new gasoline pump was installed by Turner B. Kline this week at the Sunset Garage on Bacon street, near the corner of Newport avenue. The new pump is styled the "Vizo" and its visibility vies with quick service.

Zero Hours of Automobile Accidents, 4, 5 and 8 P. M.

5:00 P. M. 4:00 P. M. 8:00 P. M.

ONE thousand and thirty of Chicago's 11,785 auto accidents last year, according to the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, occurred between five and six o'clock, just when congestion is at its worst in the home-going rush. Only 47 of these 1,030 accidents were fatal.

Four o'clock is the children's zero hero. Thirty-three of the 182 children killed by autos in Chicago last year came to grief at four o'clock, playing in the streets after school.

Seven to nine is the dangerous time for adult auto fatalities, according to Chicago's 1924 record. Eighty-six of 353 such deaths occurred around the theater-going hours.

PROPOSITION FOR

PUBLIC BUILDING AS

COMMUNITY CENTER

A notice has appeared in the post-office the past week to the effect that a property holder on the Beach who owns several lots on the ocean front next to the original bathhouse, will donate the use of these lots for a public building to be used as a community center, recreation and amusement place, provided he obtains the co-operation of a number of other people who will furnish the necessary capital in small units, each to be thoroughly secured, the proposition to be handled and directed by the unit-holders. Besides being of untold value to the beach in general, it would be a very paying proposition to those directly interested.

APPROPRIATION FOR

M. B. SEAWALL SURVEY

The city council this week authorized an appropriation of $2000, to enable City Manager Fred Rhodes to conduct an investigation and survey at Mission Beach for the proposed seawall construction by the property owners.

EASTERN STARS HONORED

Of interest in social and fraternal circles, two Mission Beach residents have recently had the honor of being elected to two of the principal offices in the Masonic affiliation, the Past Matrons' and Past Patrons' association, Order of Eastern Star, Gene Paynter being placed in the office of patron and Mrs. Mary Fair Werre in that of secretary.

CABRILLO MEMORIAL

FOR POINT LOMA

Word was received from Washington this week that President Coolidge had signed a proclamation which will enable the Native Sons of the Golden West to erect on Point Loma their great memorial to Cabrillo, the first white man, as far as history tells it, to see what is now California. This news was received with much interest by local members of the Native Sons' organization, who now are convinced that their plans to erect the fine memorial will be crowned with success.

INSTALLATION OF #### BOULEVARD LIGHTS

Our lights are at last being installed on the boulevard. Although the brackets upon which the lamps are to hang were lost in transit, the latter are being fastened to the poles by other means, the brackets to be substituted upon arrival. The residents of Mission Beach are so grateful for the lights that the brackets by which they hang are of little moment.

GIRLS' SWIMMING CLUB

ELECTS OFFICERS

The Girls' Swimming club, which meets every Monday evening at the Mission Beach bathhouse, has recently elected the following officers: Dorothy Pray, president; Georgia Luke, secretary; and Katherine Lowe, treasurer. The club, which has as its aim the representation of the Mission Beach bathhouse in aquatic sports, is receiving instruction in swimming from Louis Fleetwood, instructor, and Mrs. J. R. Lowe, assistant instructor. The official chaplains elected by the club are Mrs. R. B. Pray, Mrs. J. R. Lowe, Mrs. H. B. Luke, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Taylor of Pacific Beach.

Where Gold Was Discovered in New California Field

Lured by the magic word "gold," scores of persons arrive at Kramer, Cal., daily and begin trudging across the desert country, carrying stakes and location notices. Mining engineers and the Herkelrath brothers, whose strike recently stirred the desert into a veritable stampede, are said to have declared their "high grade" will run $3,000 a ton or more. This picture shows a crowd of mining engineers and prospectors at the shaft where gold was first discovered waiting for a bucket of gold ore to be brought to the surface. George Herkelrath is standing next to the winch.

Lots of Reindeer in Alaska if Beef Gives Out

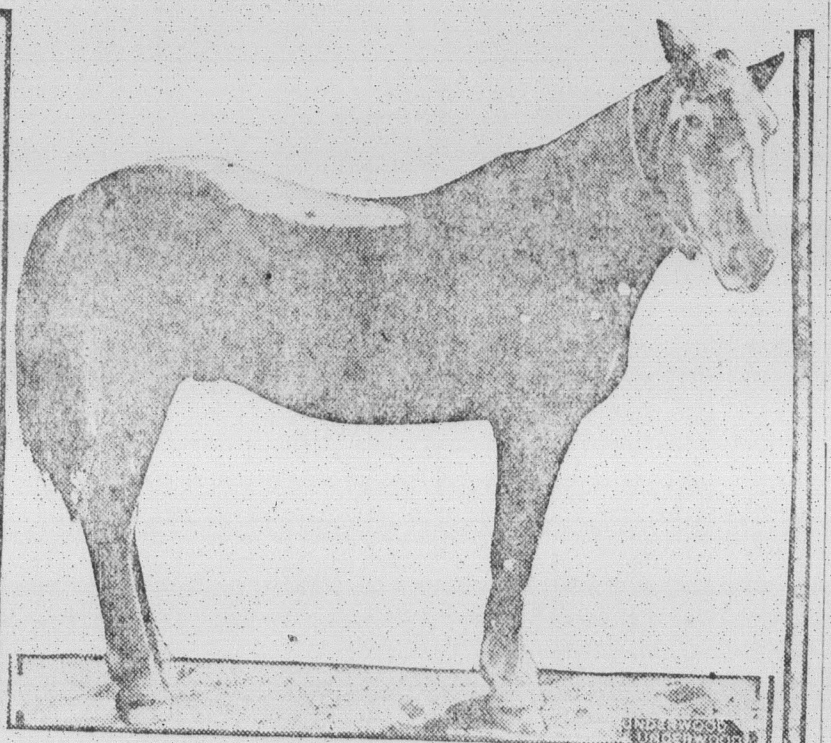

Government reports tend to show that in the not distant future the supply of this country's beef will be insufficient for popular needs. Reindeer Week (April 5 to 10) was instituted for the purpose of familiarizing the American people with the new kind of provision. At this time there are no less than 400,000 reindeer in Alaska. Some of them are shown in a corral.

Manchurians Bomb Temple of Heaven

The Temple of Heaven in Peking, originally built in A. D. 1420, when Peking became the capital of China, redecorated by Emperor Chien Lung, and again repaired by the late empress dowager, is the mark at which Manchurian aviators have been aiming their bombs in their attack on Peking. The temple is a magnificent triple-roofed structure of perfect symmetry, covered with a wonderful blue and green tile design and capped 99 feet high, with a golden ball, all springing from a triple tier of marble terraces, sculptured by noted artists. It is believed by the Chinese to cover the exact center of the earth.

"Whiskers" Is on Retired List

"Whiskers," Uncle Sam's oldest cavalry horse, after 30 years of faithful service, has been placed on the retired list. A site has been purchased and plans are being rushed to build one of the most modern equipped hospitals in the San Joaquin valley in the city of Exeter, Tulare county. Bids are expected to be called soon on this building, costing about $40,000.

Subject to deductions or additions for alternates stipulated in the bid, the city council of Marysville, Yuba county, after spending two hours over the figures submitted by five bidders, awarded the contract for the construction of the municipal natatorium.

An unjust burden is imposed on the building industry by the series of fees levied by the city of Stockton, is the declaration of the Builders' Exchange of Stockton, Inc., which will make an effort to lighten the load. Edward Grogan, chairman, points out the various taxes as follows: Every contractor, builder and supply man pays a municipal tax; when a building is to be erected there is a permit fee; the general contractor is taxed and all sub-contractors are taxed; there is an inspection fee; plumbing inspection fee and an electrical inspection fee.

SAY MAN HELD LITTLE CHILD ON RED HOT STOVE

Brooklyn Bricklayer Is Arrested on Charge Made by the Mother.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Jeremiah Sheehan, forty-two, a bricklayer, is charged with having held his three-year-old daughter, Nora, on top of a hot stove in their home, 108 Calver street, Brooklyn, until she screamed with pain.

Severely burned about the legs and back, the girl is in Greenpoint hospital in a serious condition. Meanwhile, Mrs. Sheehan, soon to become a mother for the fourth time, and her other two children are being cared for by the Brooklyn Children's society.

Police charge that Sheehan came home intoxicated. His wife was marking. Daniel, eight, and John, six, were playing in the street. Only Nora was in the house.

Neighbors told detectives they heard the child's screams a few minutes after the father entered, and rushed in to find Nora crying hysterically.

with burns covering the lower part of her body. Mrs. Sheehan returned and took all three children to the home of Mrs. Mary O'Rourke, a friend, of 123 Milton street, Brooklyn.

Later, the two women went to Magistrate Dooley, who informed the Children's society of their charges. Sheehan, arrested as he returned from work, denied having burned his daughter. He was arraigned in Bridge Plaza court.

Law Forbids Rich Man to Move Wife's Body

Paris.—Sir Basil Zaharoff, reputed to be the richest man in Europe, and popularly credited with being the largest stockholder in the Monte Carlo casino, must bow to the regulation of the Monaco principality in the drafting of which he was greatly instrumental, and cannot remove the body of his wife, who died in February, for final burial at his chateau at Bellin-court, France, until a month hence.

The ordinance provides that a body shall not be removed from the principality until six weeks after death. It was promulgated with the object of putting an end to sensational stories about the bodies of gamblers who had committed suicide being smuggled out of Monaco. One of the first to come under its application is the "mystery man of Europe."

Gossip Sends Woman to Death With Son

New York.—The waters of the Kill Van Kull, off Sailor's Snug Harbor, Staten island, tossed up the body of Mrs. Minna Silver, washing it ashore at Fort Wadsworth. The woman and her four-year-old son, Otto, disappeared eight days ago from her home in New Brighton, Staten island. The boy's body was found two days later.

Because a male friend, fond of little Otto, escorted the two home from a theater one night, the neighborhood scented a scandal. The mother was openly insulted on the street. She couldn't stand the torture; so, clasping her son in her arms, she leaped into the icy waters.

Whips Bear Barehanded, Quiets Carnival Panic

Kalamazoo, Mich.—Patrolman Ray Shorter grabbed an enraged bear around the neck here, threw him to the floor and held him until he was lashed with ropes, thereby quieting a panic at a lodge carnival and preventing the bear from escaping from the hall.

The bear clawed and bit Joseph Short, his keeper, during the performance and started for the door. Women screamed and a rush for the exit started.

Short was taken to a hospital with a wound in the abdomen. Shorter was clawed but not seriously hurt.

RADIO

Farm Radio Making Rapid Growth—There Are Nearly 1,000,000 Radio Sets on Farms in the United States.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There are nearly 1,000,000 radio sets on farms in the United States, the Department of Agriculture estimates in a report on the growth of farm radio during the past five years.

In some states, the department says, there are radio sets on 25 to 40 per cent of all farms. Estimates made by the department in 1923 showed 145,000 sets in use on farms at that time; 305,000 sets in 1924, and 553,000 sets early in 1925.

Increased power and improved broadcasting, together with better receiving sets, the department believes, "will do much to aid in establishing the permanency of the use of radio for the benefit of agriculture."

"One station alone in a period of three months' broadcasting of market and weather reports, received more than 3,000 letters of commendation from farmers, country banks, shippers of live stock, and small merchants in the towns in 12 agricultural states surrounding the station."

Interference among stations may gradually be eliminated, the department believes, as many of the less active stations are being discontinued, and technical improvements are being made in both broadcasting and receiving equipment. Of 1,458 radio stations of all sizes licensed to broadcast since broadcasting began, only 536 were active on January 1 this year.

Co-Operative Arrangements.

The department has made co-operative arrangements with more than 100 stations for broadcasting official market news gathered by department representatives in leading shipping and consuming areas. Since the first of the year the department has made arrangements with about 60 stations to broadcast on a regular schedule four additional services dealing with general agricultural information.

Literally hundreds of stations have requested the privilege of handling the government reports, but many of the requests have had to be refused the department says, because the stations are remote from the department's market news branch offices.

"When the experimental radio market news service was announced on December 21, 1920," the report states, "those in the Department of Agriculture who were directing the new activity hardly anticipated the wonderful possibilities of radio broadcasting as we now know it. A laboratory transmitter at the United States bureau of standards on a 400-meter wave length, a few enthusiastic amateurs within a hundred miles of Washington, and a 5 p. m. schedule of about 500 words by radio telegraph, composing what was called the 'radio marketgram,' constituted the elements of the experiment."

"The practical results of this first experiment could hardly be called conclusive, but they gave encouragement to those in charge of it to push on in the quest of more and more evidence. On April 7, 1921, an announcement was made that arrangements had been completed with the air-mail radio service of the Post-Office department to transmit by 'wireless' market reports several times a day from post-office stations at Washington, D. C., Bellefonte, Pa., St. Louis, Mo., and Omaha, Neb."

Amateurs Were Enlisted.

"Assuming an effective radius of audibility of 300 miles about each station, licensed amateurs in the areas covered were enlisted to copy the reports and to furnish them to shippers' associations, county agents, state bureaus of markets, farm bureaus and other agricultural agencies, banks, newspapers and local telephone exchanges. A number of licensed operators offered to copy the reports. By January 1, 1922, the market reports were being relayed and broadcast by radio telegraph from seven post office stations in a chain across the country."

"During 1921, reports were furnished to three of the then very few radio telephone broadcasting stations. Since then, the service has grown by leaps and bounds until now there is practically no agricultural community in the country that is without official market reports on agricultural commodities. Well-established schedules of weather, crop and market reports are broadcast from more than 100 stations in all parts of the country."

Farmers, of necessity, the department says, have bought mainly high-priced sets capable of getting distant stations. The average cost of radio sets on more than 1,000 farms widely scattered over the country in 1923 was estimated by the department at $175. Better and more easily operated equipment can be bought now for half this amount, the department says.

An authentic list of broadcasting stations the country over that broadcast market and crop reports has been prepared by the department for free distribution. Requests for the list should be mailed to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

FOREFATHERS OF RADIO

By GEORGE LEWIS
of The Crosley Radio Corporation.

Developments in radio transmission went ahead by leaps and bounds, but the reception of signals was hampered by the lack of proper means for detecting them. Many men worked upon this problem. J. A. Fleming, for instance, invented the "valve," which was the forerunner of the radio tube developed by DeForest in this country. But the detecting device which became most popular in the early days of radio was the crystal detector, as developed by Binwood and Picard and introduced in 1906. By means of the crystal detector the received electric current is so modified that it will operate a telephone receiver.

Up to this time there had been so few radio stations that there was little difficulty about the signals of more than one station being received at the same time and "interfering" with one another. However, such difficulties were anticipated by other factors which overcame them.

The length of waves sent out by the transmitting station depends upon certain constants of the apparatus. Just as the length of a water wave depends upon the object which causes the disturbance in the water and is responsible for the waves. Thus a cork dropped into a pond will send out little, short, choppy waves, while if a big ocean liner overturns, the splash it makes will be followed by giant waves of great length. By adjusting certain parts of the transmitting apparatus the length of wave that it sends out may be controlled, and by adjusting similar parts of the receiving apparatus one may control the wave-length to which it will respond. This adjustment is called "tuning."

Thus, very early in the history of radio transmitting, stations near each other were tuned to different wave-lengths, so that the operator of a receiving set could tune to any one of them.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lansing, Michigan—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I needed it. When I first had it I was so bad I could hardly walk across the room without crying. I was tired all the time. I think my trouble was coming on me for six months before I realized it. I read of your wonderful medicine in the paper, and my husband bought me a bottle, and after the first few doses I felt better, so kept on taking it until I was well and strong. I take it at times when I feel tired and it helps me. I will always have a good word for your medicine and tell anyone what good it has done me. I recommended it to my neighbor for her girl, who is sixteen years old, and it was just what she needed. She is feeling fine now, and goes to school every day."—Mrs. E. F. Bassett, 216 South Hayford Avenue, Lansing, Michigan.

Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is sold by druggists everywhere. It is a root and herb medicine and has been used by women for over fifty years.

Balboa Theater

How noble Austrian families, with generations of traditions behind them and empty cupboards before them, were humbled, while war barons and war vultures grew fat on the profits of the war, is brought poignantly to light in one of the season's most colossal screen dramas, "The Greater Glory," which will be shown at the Balboa Theatre here beginning Saturday.

"The Greater Glory" is the work of June Mathias, master mind of the screen. Miss Mathias is responsible for "The Four Horsemen," which brought Rex Ingram and Rudolph Valentino to the fore.

The story is a poignant history of the fortunes of a fine old Viennese family before, during and after the war. The picture is startlingly realistic. The greater part of the scenes recorded are authentic and actually took place in the once gay Austrian capital.

The large cast of "The Greater Glory," is headed by Anna Q. Nilson, Conway Tearle, May Allison, Ian Keith, Jean Hersholt and Lucy Beaumont. More than twenty other players of note have supporting parts, and the "extra" parts number about 1,600.

Additional entertainment is offered with the stage presentation of the "Fanchon and Marco Idea," in which Mile. Dolly Gill, late of the Follies Bergere is featured. Mile. Dolly Gill came to America recently to appear in motion pictures but was induced by Fanchon and Marco to appear over the West Coast Circuit while waiting the arrival of a European Director. Mile Dolly Gill will be supported by a bevy of clever dancers.

Zimmermann and Grandville are two famous Victor Recording Swiss yoedling artists, who have just finished making records with Paul Whitemann's Band. They will have a Swiss mountain setting in the presentation that is very effective.

Mac Curry and Betty Alexander will initiate a Swiss dance number, assisted by a chorus of Swiss milkmaids. The costumes for this number are very pretty.

Helene Grant and Grace Lee do a cute sister team number, singing the "Jazz Cornet." They also do a solo number apiece. The Sunkist Beauties will present a series of diversified numbers ranging from the cool Alpine snows to a South Sea Dance.

George Stolberg and the Balboa Music Masters will present another of their symphonic musical programs which have become so popular with music loving patrons.

Cabrillo Theater

Harold Lloyd, M. C. which stands for Master Comedian, a title he has well earned and richly deserves. Rip-roaring action, a choice assortment of thrills, a pleasing little romance and a lot of humor make up Harold's best of all pictures which is packing the Cabrillo Theatre this week.

The plot of the picture which is breaking all attendance records for Lloyd is a different one from anything he has previously attempted. As a debonaire millionaire clubman living in luxury, he becomes a crusader in the slums and in reforming the hardboiled gangsters, he meets with some pretty rough treatment at their hands. Each funny situation is but the fore-runner of another even funnier, and the climaxes are brought about through various thrilling episodes, including a hair-raising bus ride that is the last word in thrills.

Hilarious complications pile up thick and fast around the would-be salvationist and are added to as the result of Harold's mysterious disappearance on his wedding day. It is then you begin to realize the rickety possibilities of the plot.

The usual West Coast Current Kinograms always brings the latest events in world happenings. A comedy and novelty picture each and Raymond Godden at the organ playing popular selection completes the entertaining program.

INDUSTRIAL COMMUNITIES

The development of prosperous, modern cities seems to be proceeding on two lines—encouraging the establishment of payroll industries, and introducing more industrial education in the public schools.

Public school equipment for industrial vocational education where large numbers of boys are learning actual trades is increasing in progressive communities.

Turning the thoughts of the growing male school population into channels of efficient industrial education will make all cities more prosperous, reduce crime, and encourage home building and contented family life.

TREASURE CHEST TYPICAL

OF OLD DOMINION

Appreciative of the honor done Richmond, Virginia, last year when the National Editorial association met there, and holding many pleasant memories of those who were delegates to that convention, Richmond this year is undertaking to manifest friendship then developed by tendering to the association a handsome treasure chest to be awarded as the second prize in the annual membership competition. More than 350 manufacturing plants and nearly 70,000 people employed in them are directly involved in making the treasure chest an outstanding prize, one typical of the Old Dominion capital and one that will be of genuine value to the winner.

CO-OPERATION URGED BY PROMINENT CLUB WOMEN DEFENDING PRESS

At the twenty-fifth annual convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, just held at Riverside, Calif., Past President Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald delivered the principal address of the convention, her subject being, "Women in Public Service." She vigorously defended the press of California after attacks from some of the club women for replacing news of their own work with accounts of murders and sensationalism.

"You women do not always approve of the newspaper accounts of your departments, but you do not realize the great value to our work of the club departments in the newspapers of the state," she said. "Their financial return to newspapers is small indeed for the great service they do for us. Instead of standing off and criticizing as something apart, let us make them our newspapers; ours in the sense that we love them and they are a part of our lives. They are what we make them; what we allow them to be. They will become what we want them to be, not through criticism or coercion or threats, but by understanding and co-operation."

"Who sounds the alarm in time of danger if not your newspapers? Who rescues the needy in disaster, if not your newspaper? Who teaches patriotism better than your newspaper? Who suffers calumny and untruthful accusations more and yet stands firm for country and right?" challenged Mrs. Fitzgerald.

PERSONAL PROPERTY IS RECLAIMED AS A TRIBUTE TO PIONEERS

After resting for nearly half a century in the tomb-like chamber where the state safeguards documents and keepsakes left by the unknown dead, the personal effects of several hundred California pioneers have been recently reclaimed by State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, and placed in the historical department of the State library at Sacramento.

Treasurer Johnson's action was in the nature of a simple tribute to pioneers heretofore denied recognition. Unlike other possessions of the library's historical department, the articles given into its keeping today were the trinkets and papers of men who failed—tragic mementos of courageous but abortive quests for fortune which ended in death in the alms house.

Establishing A Garage Business In The African Jungle

It would require a vast amount of courage and faith to establish a garage business in the heart of the African jungle. First it would be necessary to create a demand for garage service, then roads would have to be constructed and the natives educated to the convenience and comfort of the automobile.

The pioneers who established the electric light and power industry worked in a jungle of indifference and discouragement. These pioneers first developed an economical means of generating electricity. Then they set about to create a demand for their product. They built transmission lines. They established electrical power in industry. They encouraged the invention of electrical appliances and labor-saving devices.

With a permanent demand created in the urban districts, the rural sections were next invited to share in the wonders of electricity. Long distance transmission lines were extended into the agricultural sections and today electric pumping plants, separators, milking machines, incubators, etc., are all a vital part of the modern farm.

And the average cost of electric service necessary to operate these appliances is less than it was before the war, while the cost of government has increased and the average cost of commodities has risen 65 per cent.

Pretty Things that are Made at Home

"EARLY American," that is a description to conjure with whether the conversation is of architecture in a home, or the furnishings of the home. A wave of appreciation for early American art in home furnishings has swept across the country. Lucky possessors of fine pieces of furniture, handed down to them, have learned how precious these pieces are and a new interest has been awakened in the work of women in colonial times. In the craftsmanship of their weaving, quilt piecing, rug making and the like.

The old art of rug making has been revived and women are making hooked rugs of coarse yarns. Some of them are piecing quilts, as their grandmothers did and copying the quaint, old of becomingness has grown to be vastly important in them; it is stressed in all shoes except, perhaps, those for special sports wear, and even these must consider the element of style.

Besides the usual black and brown shoes for the street, there are new light browns, beige, parchment, honey, gray and gray-beige that harmonize with fashionable colors in suits or costumes, and are inconspicuous. But the color range is much wider and includes sauterne, blond and bois-de-rose as well as pastel colors in very smart oxfords. These are provided for those who are particular about choosing a color to harmonize perfectly with the costume. But kid leather in the brown, beige, gray-beige, parchment and honey shades, con-patterns that are well worth preserving. These are occupations for women of leisure and the finished rugs and quilts are valuable from a money standpoint, as well as from the standpoint of sentiment. Rugs made of rags, cut into strips, braided and sewed in oval and circular shapes are well established and some of them are now made of discarded silk stockings. The legs of these are cut into continuous strips, the strips braided and sewed together. Table mats are made in the same way—the colors arranged according to the fancy of the maker.

A handsome design for a hooked rug is given here. These rugs are made on a burlap foundation and a modern needle, invented for the purpose, makes the work go quickly. With a colonial bed or bureau, a pieced quilt and homemade rugs one can make a splendid start in refurbishing at least one room so that it shall be a tribute to the early Americans.

Strips of silk in many colors sewed together and loosely woven in the old "hit-and-miss" rag-carpet pattern, tributes shoes that will fill all ordinary requirements. Pumps seem to be cut a trifle higher than they were and oxfords somewhat lower, and becomingness depends upon cut.

There are a good many shoes of reptile skins—or of leathers that look like them. The alligator, the lizard and numerous snake skins, very often in combination with plain leathers, add interest to the collections of spring footwear. These may or may not be genuine, the innocent kid and calf, for all one knows, may be masquerading as lizard or rattlesnake—if so, the imitation is so clever that no one is the wiser. The utmost luxury is reached in these smart shoes combining two leathers. For sports or semi-sports wear linen and kid skin are shown in white, brown, beige and in white and brown combinations. Shoes made of braided strips of leather are popular with sports frocks and so are white "saunter oxfords" like those worn with a smart jumper frock. The slippers shown in the oval are of bois-de-rose kid skin and appear made beautiful couch covers, pillow covers or portieres and small colonial rugs more closely woven and made of cotton or woolen rags, are staple articles of merchandise that find a ready sale. But the most alluring of all revivals seems to be the pieced quilt, because of its quaint, honey beauty, and because it is convenient pick-up work which anyone can do.

In front of windows filled with spring and summer shoes, women are clustering like bees about a honey-suckle bush—studying the new styles industriously and enthusiastically. Their footwear consciousness has been developed very rapidly during the past few years and they are quite as mindful of the clothing of their feet as they are of their millinery. Meantime shoe styles have grown more complicated and much more greatly varied than they ever were and the element to have a fanciful emplacement of lizard skin as a finish.

For evening wear metallic brocades, in slippers appear to lead. There are many black satin slippers with touches of gold or silver and handsome rhinestone buckles have lost none of their prestige. Metallic kid and brocades are combined in some of the smartest evening slippers.

About the best choice for mid-summer wear with all one's day dresses is the kid shoe in beige, gray-beige, parchment, honey or light brown, with stockings and gloves to match in color. Even the street hat is often chosen with reference to the color of the shoes, and these matching accessories worn with tailored suits or frocks insure a chic ensemble.

KITCHEN CABINET IS GREAT CONVENIENCE

Cooking Materials and Utensils Easily Assembled.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There is no need to demonstrate to the modern housewife the value of having most of her supplies grouped near together, so that she can prepare foods with the fewest possible motions and steps. A kitchen cabinet, either bought in a store or home-made, answers this need perfectly, although its usefulness is not always realized until work with it has actually begun. A glance at the illustration, which shows how easily materials and utensils for cake making are assembled when one has a cabinet, will suggest many other ways of using this very convenient piece of equipment.

Convenient Position of Cabinet.
You have, of course, a stool in your kitchen, to sit on as often as work permits. Notice the convenient position this cabinet occupies with respect to the sink, which is just to the left of the cook. Used bowls and mixing tools can be laid on the drain board without an extra step, and the working surface of the cabinet is thus easily kept clear. The United States Department of Agriculture suggested this particular arrangement.

Improved Cabinet.

If you do not wish to buy a cabinet it is quite possible for the "handy man" of the house to improvise one which will fulfill the main requirements: a place to keep the supplies and a counter to work with them easily. If this is a built-in feature it should be located so as to save steps in moving about the kitchen from sink to cabinet and cabinet to stove.

TO SECURE TIME FOR EXTRA TASKS

Various Odds and Ends Are Confronted at Once.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A period of spring freshening is inevitable in every good housekeeper's calendar, no matter how careful and systematic she may be about cleaning throughout the year. The furnace fire is dispensed with; screens go up; portieres and many window curtains come down or are exchanged for those of more seasonal fabrics; slip covers appear, and best rugs as well as winter flannels are put away with those marbles. Such changes as these, as well as miscellaneous tasks of turning out boxes and cupboards, mending furnishings and getting rid of articles no longer wanted, confront one almost simultaneously, and while many of them are not, strictly speaking, cleaning processes, doing them frequently reveals corners that have been overlooked and that need attention and rearrangement.

In the home that is always kept reasonably clean the actual washing of woodwork, windows, floors or furniture may be less of an extra task in the general spring freshening than attending to these other requirements. If the housekeeper's time is already largely consumed by the ordinary duties of her home it becomes a problem to get in such additional jobs. As nearly all of them require some decision on her part, they cannot be delegated successfully to anyone else, so she must find some way of gaining time for them without neglecting the daily needs of the family.

The bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture suggests that in such cases a time schedule or plan of work may be of real assistance. It should be made several weeks before the period of spring change is due, and followed until the transformation of the house is completed. Begin by keeping a record for one week of the time actually spent in your successive activities each day. Include housework, sleeping, dressing, care of the children, talking or telephoning, and any other ways you spent your time.

Now go over those time records day by day to see how long you spent on routine work, and what free times are available, even in spaces as short as five minutes, or half-hours. Decide, first, whether any of the tasks recorded could be eliminated altogether, at least for the period of extra spring work, or delegated to some one else, permanently or temporarily. Could one of the children set the table, sort the laundry or dust the living room? Could you send the washing out for a few weeks, to gain time for those tasks no one else but yourself can possibly do? Then see whether time could be gained by speeding up any of the regular work.

Your method of dishwashing may be at fault; you can at least simplify meals for a while, so as to have fewer dishes and cooking utensils to wash. Fifteen minutes gained on several little tasks daily will prove worth while. Think it all out clearly. Look at the location of the scattered short periods of free time. Could any of these be brought together by combining other duties in a different order? The longer the space of time available the more one can accomplish. Such a slight change as rising a little earlier (offset, of course, by going to bed earlier) may enable you to prepare part of dinner early in the day while getting breakfast and so leave a longer space free later.

Mercerized Fabrics Now Are Strong and Durable

Some confusion exists in the minds of many housekeepers as to distinctions between "mercerized" cotton goods, and those fabrics having more or less temporary glossy finishes produced by paste mixtures. "Paper can be" is an example of a fabric with the paste finish. Artificial silk, or rayon, is a more lustrous fabric than either of these, but should not be mistaken for mercerized cotton.

Many years ago, says the United States Department of Agriculture, John Mercer, for whom the process is named, discovered that when cotton yarn or cloth was dipped in strong solutions of lye for a short time and then washed, neutralized, and dried, it became much stronger. In later years it was noted that if the yarn or cloth was held under well-regulated tension during the process it was rendered glossier as well as stronger. Hence, mercerization is a process that adds not only durability but beauty. There are today on the market many cotton fabrics in which the entire cloth is glossier and stronger than ordinary cotton materials, or in which bright mercerized yarns have been introduced to form stripes, checks, or figures. Some of the best known mercerized fabrics are batiste, mill, cotton damask, cotton foulard, sateen, venetian, and cotton poplin. Each of these is valuable for some special purpose, according to its character—the sheer, fine fabrics like batiste for underwear and infants' dresses, and the heavier ones for linings or household uses.

Vary White Sauce Used in Serving Many Dishes

To vary the white sauce used in serving such dishes as creamed potatoes, eggs, toast or vegetables, or in making scalloped dishes, try adding half a cupful of cottage cheese to each pint of sauce. Cool the sauce slightly before adding it to the cheese, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Stir till well blended, and then reheat in a double boiler. Avoid boiling the sauce after the cheese is added.

If the cheese is strongly acid it may be necessary to add a small amount of baking soda to it before mixing with the sauce. If a half a cupful of cheese is to be used dissolve a quarter of a teaspoonful of soda in a little hot milk or water and blend with the cheese, then combine the latter with the sauce.

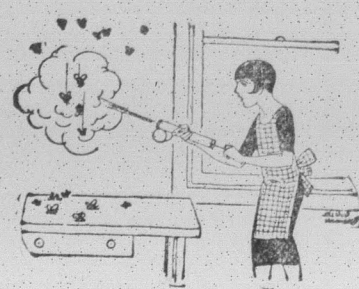

Variations in the flavor of the sauce may be made by seasoning with cayenne pepper, by mixing a dash of curry powder with the flour used to thicken the sauce and adding a few drops of onion juice; by adding a little Worcestershire sauce and some finely chopped parsley; or by adding chopped parsley and pinenuts.

Some Children Need Iron

"Anemic" children need iron. Egg yolk is unusually rich in iron and is very valuable in such cases, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. Prunes, raisins, orange juice, green vegetables, especially spinach, are valuable sources of this important constituent. Liver has been shown to be especially valuable in such a condition.

Condensed Milk

When milk is heated the water in it is readily driven off, and if the heating is continued long enough, the milk becomes thick and creamy. Advantage is taken of this fact in the manufacture of condensed and evaporated milk.

OCEAN BEACH

7 Miles On Air
and You're There

Have you really visited Ocean Beach? Or have you merely driven through it on one of its principal highways and missed the glorious drives and views from Ocean Beach's residential section? Can you spend just one hour in Ocean Beach and feast your eyes on a sight which will disclose to you many, many scenes of attraction that you did not know existed in this favored section?

The accessibility of Ocean Beach to San Diego is one of its outstanding advantages. The motorist has merely to drive a short seven miles on the grandest scenic boulevard in the county to the very center of the city. Those who utilize street car transportation will find excellent fast trains that bring them into town in only fifteen minutes and at a very nominal round-trip fare.

With streets being paved as rapidly as possible, with curbs and sidewalks, and with all public utilities available and installed or being installed, a new conception of development and progress marks the advancement of this Jewel City of Southern California; and the scenic splendor of mountains, city and sea which is enjoyed from almost every point within its borders makes Ocean Beach distinctively different in topography, attractiveness and desirability.

Upon comparison we believe you will find Ocean Beach represents positively the most attractive investment for the home-seeker. Ocean Beach is a residence park of distinct social standing, emerging from a mediocre flashy summer resort to an all-year-round residential section of beautiful homes and estates—with social and recreational advantages—and a scenic beauty unsurpassed.

Ocean Beach is the very heart of this beautiful fast-growing seaside community—many fully improved beautiful wide drives lined with full grown trees—attractive and spacious homes completed or under construction, and only fifteen minutes from the heart of San Diego. Its business frontage, which has unlimited possibilities, especially that which is concentrated at a centralized point at Voltaire and Bacon Streets, is not a speculation—it is an investment with certain profits! Present low prices will amaze you.

When Ocean Beach is really discovered, and becomes the most sought-for section of San Diego, which it surely will when seen as the setting of a beautiful residential park with a profusion of lovely homes that enjoy a panoramic view not to be obtained elsewhere, we believe you will agree with us when we say that Ocean Beach today stands on the threshold of an unprecedented activity which should force it into first choice of the truly discriminating homeseeker.

Ocean Beach occupies an area starting from the water's edge of the Pacific Ocean and Mission Bay and very gently and gradually rises to the top of the hills that mark its eastern boundary; the shore line of Ocean Beach is protected with natural barriers which provide unexcelled bathing facilities and beach recreation and no chilling and disturbing winds mar a day of joyous and healthful outing on its broad expanse. Climate and temperature are a veritable prolongation of life in this ideal spot.

The beautiful beach extends about two miles on one side, while from the slope on the other side a gorgeous panorama rolls away from the hills to the sea. Here one may have all the advantages of a lovely home, quiet, clean, fresh air, a wonderful view, safety for the children and no traffic congestion, and all of this but fifteen minutes from the heart of San Diego.

We wish that all of you could realize that property in Ocean Beach can be bought for from one-half to one-third less than similar and less desirable areas that are three to ten miles further from the heart of the city. And when you consider projects now under construction and greater ones planned and decided upon for the very near future, you will readily understand that values in this community are bound to advance sharply and that the opportunity to avail yourselves of the ridiculously low prices that now obtain should be seized at once.

And yet Ocean Beach property is very conservatively priced; prices of lots begin at $400, which buys a beach cabin site 25 x 100, and advances on up to $3500, $5000 and $7000, which prices command considerably larger locations with magnificent views. There is a satisfactory selection for every requirement.

We have in our office many amazing offerings in select lots and moderately priced dwellings already completed, with terms that can be easily met without burden by almost anyone. We would welcome your inquiries and a visit from you, and in no wise insist in the slightest manner on any compulsion upon your part to buy.

Miss Kate Spani, Principal

Written for "The Beach News"
By Zelma McCabe

Last Tuesday Dr. Lillian Mahan and the school nurse, Mrs. Schellenberger, gave the 4-A and 6-B grades a very thorough physical examination. Dr. Mahan reported that she found the pupils with hearts in more excellent condition than any group examined lately.

Noris and Cecil Fauguet, from Ontario, Calif., enter the 1-B and kindergarten of Ocean Beach school this week.

Melba Seol was transferred from the Washington school to the kindergarten.

The kindergarten and primary grades gave a flower sale recently and the proceeds will go to city charity.

Hayden Honnell, a former pupil of O. B. school, visited school Wednesday morning.

The children are interested in watching the mud swallows building their homes under the eaves of the schoolhouse. One child reported that the sparrows threw the baby swallows out of the nest and appropriated it for themselves.

Miss Hopson was absent from school Tuesday morning on account of illness.

Next week the 6-B grade will begin making tiles of clay. Miss Schaffer, the art supervisor, has promised to have all the good ones fired.

Mission Beach School Notes

Written for "The Beach News" By Pupils Under Direction of Miss Sarellen Morgan

This week, instead of news notes, we are sending three compositions written by school children, showing the work we are doing.

GREECE

By David Rees, 4-A Grade

Miss Morgan's room is studying Greece. We learned that in ancient Greece men were strong and healthy. They would run twenty-five miles to win a wreath of laurel leaves. They thought that was a great honor. The Greek people didn't have only one God like we do. They believed in many gods. For instance, they believed in Athens, the goddess of wisdom. Jupiter was the king of all gods and goddesses.

THE JAPANESE MANNER

By Vera Reama, 5-A Grade

At the Mission Beach school we studied the Japanese manner of flower arrangement. We found that the Japanese made their bouquets with three or four flowers.

Ruth Borg brought a lily and we painted it for our art lesson. We chose the best ones and put them on display with a well-lettered sign which said, "In the Japanese Manner."

THE SANDPIPER

By Bobby B. Gilson, 6-B Grade

At the Mission Beach school, Constance Mailey of the third grade found a small sandpiper lying on the boulevard. She brought it to school and gave it to Jesse Barnhill. He took it home and it stayed for three days. It would run to and from the house, and it would go to the box in which it was kept. About three days after Jesse got it, the sandpiper died.
